

Grant awarded to group fighting PSE & G power line expansion proposal through Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area

By Warren Reporter

May 02, 2010, 10:07AM

Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area

HARDWICK -- The Save the Park group is the recipient of a $2,500 grant from the Highlands Coalition. The money is to continue the group's work in creating community awareness of the effects of PSE & G's proposed power line expansion project through the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area, the Appalachian Trail and the Highlands Region, (home to the drinking water of 5 million people).

The group, which plans a picnic and rally at Millbrook Village (located in the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area on Millbrook Road) Saturday, May1 at 10:30 a.m., focuses on a mission of "educating the public about hazards and permanent effects on the region."

The group's web site is savethepark.org.

© 2010 NJ.com. All rights reserved.